Election/Restrictions

First of all, the Applicants please review the multiple dependent claims 10-12. Claim 11 cannot depend on claim 10, and claim 12 cannot depend on claims 10 and/or 11, because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend on another multiple dependent claim. Similarly, claims 18 and 19 cannot depend on claim 17.

In addition, claim 10 does not meet the antecedent basis requirement if depending on claims 7-9, because claims 7-9 do not cite “the adjusting”, “the indexing”, and “the incremental distance”.

In light of the above statement, the restriction requirement is made with an assumption that claim 10 does not depend on claims 7-9, and each of claims 10-12 does not depend on the others.

Claims 1, 7, and 13 are generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species:

Species I: The invention is drawn to a method of ink jet printing in an ink jet printing apparatus comprising means for moving the bridge longitudinally relative to the frame to thereby move the printhead longitudinally the distance corresponding to the difference between actual distance moved by the substrate during the indexing motion and a predetermined distance.

Species II: The invention is drawn to a method of ink jet printing in an ink jet printing apparatus comprising means for moving the printhead longitudinally relative to the bridge to thereby move the printhead longitudinally the distance corresponding to the difference between actual distance moved by the substrate during the indexing motion and a predetermined distance.

Species III: The invention is drawn to a method of ink jet printing in an ink jet printing apparatus comprising means for further feeding the substrate longitudinally through the printing station in response to a feed signal from the controller, the feed signal being representative of a given feed distance less the calculated correction distance.

Species IV: The invention is drawn to a method of ink jet printing in an ink jet printing apparatus comprising means for moving the printhead longitudinally in the direction of the indexing when the incremental distance is greater than the actual distance and is in a direction opposite the direction of the indexing when the incremental distance is less than the actual distance.

Moreover, each of above Species discloses patentably distinct sub-species:

Art Unit: 2853

Sub-Species A: wherein the web position measurement device is fixed to the frame for measuring the distance relative to the fixed frame of the printing machine.

Sub-Species B: wherein the web position measurement device is fixed to the bridge for measuring the distance relative to the longitudinal position of the printhead.

The species/sub-species are independent or distinct because they contain claimed limitations that are different characteristics and patentable over each other. Furthermore, there is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to requiring a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species/sub-species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species/sub-species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Art Unit: 2853

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
